

THE CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING AND MODERN SLAVERY PRESENTS

The Intersection of Youth Homelessness + Human Trafficking

TUESDAY, MARCH 22, 2022 | 12:00 - 1:00 PM EST

REGISTER HERE: TINYURL.COM/HTMS-SPRING-SERIES-2

There is a strong overlap between homelessness and trafficking experiences among youth. Understanding the pathways, vulnerabilities that lead to homelessness and trafficking, as well as key strategies to prevent both, is critical in our fight to end human trafficking. Attendees will also learn:

- Federal definitions and examples will be used to define homelessness and human trafficking- inclusive of sex and labor trafficking.
- The latest research to include Chapin Hall Voices of Youth Count and Loyola University's research on the intersection of runaway and homeless youth and human trafficking.
- Common risk and protective factors.
- Key policy opportunities to move forward a proactive advocacy agenda.

READ MORE HERE: TINYURL.COM/HTMS-SPRING-2-INFO

GUEST SPEAKER

Darla Bardine

Darla Bardine has dedicated her career to young people and families who experience homelessness, poverty, violence, and exploitation. She serves as Executive Director of the National Network for Youth (NN4Y). Before joining NN4Y, Darla created and launched the Fight Child Exploitation in Tourism Initiative in South Africa. She holds a J.D. from Georgetown Law.