"Waiting on the World to Change"

Global Perspectives director John C. Bersia had a chance to meet John Mayer in July. The musician and singer-songwriter performed at a private concert hosted by Temple University in Philadelphia, featuring songs from his new album "Paradise Valley," before embarking on an international tour. One of Mayer's earlier songs, "Waiting on the World to Change," won a Grammy. He has sold more than 20 million albums worldwide.

"It's always a special pleasure to spend time with someone like Mayer who makes an incredible, global mark in his or her field," Bersia said.

Fall Event Lineup

Every year, the UCF Global Perspectives Office (GP) helps bring prominent figures to campus to speak about pressing world issues. This year, GP's annual theme, "What is Global is Local," connects issues from thousands of miles away to our own daily lives.

The events, which are free and open to the public, include:

- “Women and Leadership: A Global Perspective,” featuring MTV producer Shannon Fitzgerald on taking any success to the next level at 3 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 17, in the Key West Ballroom of the Student Union.
- “An Afternoon with Downton Abbey,” with discussions from best-selling author and Downton insider Jessica Fellowes at 3 p.m., Monday, Sept. 30, in the Cape Florida Ballroom of the Student Union.
- “The Square: Egypt’s Ongoing Struggles for Democracy,” with award-winning documentarian and activist Jehane Noujaim at 3 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 29, in the Pegasus Ballroom of the Student Union.

Students are welcome to attend to learn, connect and ask questions at any GP event. Faculty members wishing to bring classes to an event are encouraged to contact global@ucf.edu to reserve space. For a full list of this upcoming semester’s events, or to learn about GP, visit ucfglobalperspectives.org/.

Negotiating to the Top

The UCF Executive Development Center will host its annual, interactive two-day seminar, “Negotiate To The Top,” October 15-16, 2013. The seminar will be led by Tim Cullen, Director of The Oxford Program on Negotiation at the University of Oxford, UK, who instructs on the latest negotiation strategies. Participants will deepen their theoretical knowledge of negotiation and sharpen their practical skills throughout the highly-interactive and applied sessions using simulation, role-play and other sophisticated approaches. This program is designed to give participants the skills essential to conduct negotiations and forge better deals in any industry. Visit the program page to learn more about it.
