Newest Monograph

Are you confused at all about the conflict in Ukraine, where it comes from or how it might pan out? GP's quarterly monograph series, Worldviews for the 21st Century, has been highlighting global issues since 2002 and the most recent is particularly timely.

Fiona Hill, director of the Center on the United States and Europe and senior fellow in the Foreign Policy program at the Brookings Institution, recently authored the next Worldviews issue, "Mr. Putin and the Art of the Offensive Defense." Click here to give it a read!

A Scholar Abroad

We are always proud of the amazing opportunities our interns, scholars and fellows pursue. This summer, former MacArthur Scholar Shannon Payne will intern for the Department of State in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Russia. She will serve in the Cultural Affairs Unit of the Public Affairs Section, and will have the opportunity to meet with exchange participants and student groups.

Payne is well prepared for this endeavor, having studied Russian for two years and researched E.U. and Russian affairs at GP. Says Payne, "I look forward to learning what working in a U.S. embassy entails, and I'm excited to spend ten weeks living in a country where English is not the common tongue." We look forward to having her back and hearing all about it!

Next Distinguished Visitor

Later this month, GP is proud to host Serhii Plokyh, a leading expert on Eastern European affairs. In addition to directing the Harvard Ukrainian Research Institute, Plokyh is also the Mykhailo S. Hrushevsky Professor of Ukrainian History at Harvard University. He will be visiting Orlando for campus and community meetings, and brings with him a comprehensive perspective on crisis in Ukraine.
