Welcome to the New Semester

The Global Perspectives Office (GP) would like to welcome everyone to the 2015 Spring semester! Our team was busy over the break selecting new interns and fellows, preparing for an exciting semester of events and editing our latest monograph. More information about upcoming events or the monograph is just a headline or two down the page. Now, though, GP would like to congratulate and extend a warm welcome to our Spring 2015 interns and fellows! Be sure to check out our Executives and Staff page to learn all about the new students.

Spotlight on Events

A new semester means new events and global speakers! Every year, GP helps bring prominent figures to campus to speak about pressing world issues. Links to upcoming events are on the top left of this page, but you should mark your calendars because our first event that is free and open to the public is just next week!

Wes Moore

Clarence B. Jones, speechwriter and advisor for Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., will visit UCF in our third and final installment of the Civil Rights Series. The series, which celebrates the Civil Rights Act and its impact on the world, previously featured Cheryl Brown Henderson and Julian Bond. Jones will speak at 3 p.m. next Thursday, Jan. 22, in the Student Union. He will discuss "The 21st Century Challenge of the Legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr." He will also answer questions and sign books. Please help us kick off a great semester of events and join us next week!

New Monograph

The most recent issue of GP's quarterly monograph series, Worldviews for the 21st Century, features best-selling author and advocate Wes Moore. In the issue, titled "The Impact of Human Resolve and the Power of One", Moore discusses transformative life experiences and the importance of addressing social challenges. Click here to give it a read!
